Redefining the
Luxury of Youth
With Advanced Swiss Marine Supplement

A Unique Swiss Approved Marine Supplement

Aging is inevitable, but now with the latest advancements in science and cell therapy, aging can be delayed significantly.

Cell Therapy - The Anti-Aging Secrets of the Rich and Famous

We all aspire to live a vibrant and energetic life as we age. Aging is inevitable, but now with the latest advancements in cell therapy, aging can be reduced significantly.

How do celebrities delay the aging process? They look timeless. They exude boundless youth and energy irrespective of their age.

Many of them frequent the famous spas and medical centres of Europe, including Niehans, Filatov and Paracelsus Clinics, which specialize in regeneration and cellular therapy. These injectable therapies make it possible to maintain a youthful lifestyle that otherwise would be impossible.

The Transformative Power Of Cell Nutrition

The human body contains four trillion cells, which arise after conception from one unified cell through multiple cycles of division. This process of renewal continues throughout life as old and weak cells are replaced by new ones.

In healthy young individuals, the division of cells takes place regularly in an energetic bio terrain. As people get older, this process begins to slow down. An increase in pollution, solvents, heavy metals, parasites, stress, improper nutrition, smoking, processed sugar and alcohol also speed up the aging process. As a result of dehydration, toxicity, acidity, and oxidation, nature's oscillating biological clock becomes disrupted, leading to a gradual malfunction of our connective tissue matrix, the organs, and immune system.

Cell Nutrition can help fight aging and extend youth, energy, and vitality.

Cell Nutrition can potentially trigger the rejuvenation of our cells, the maintenance of our immune system, and protection of our cells from oxidative stress.

CELERGEN is a powerful, multi-faceted Cell Nutrition system that provides essential nutrition at the cellular level. As a result of the inherent attributes of the fish protein extracts and selenium which protects cells from oxidative stress, Celergen can make you feel and look younger.

Swiss Research and Quality Assurance

Switzerland is renowned for its stringent health and quality standard. Over the years, intensive research and development in biotechnology have established the excellent quality and reliability of Swiss products. The phrase "Made in Switzerland" serves as a symbol of assurance to health consumers around the globe.

Celergen is an extensively certified supplement with full conformity to stringent International standards of GMP, Swiss certifications, BSCG (Banned Substances Control Group) and total quality management. It is clinically tested by BIO-HC, one of Europe's largest and most sophisticated clinical test research centres in Pessac, France under Good Laboratories Practice Conditions.

Over the years, intensive research and development in biotechnology has also established Swiss products in the quadrant of excellent quality and reliability.

Celergen is not a drug but a fish gelatine-coated Swiss Food supplement

Celergen is manufactured to rigorous pharmaceutical and food grade standards. It is guaranteed to comply with global regulatory toxicity and contaminants requirements.

Celergen was developed through strict marine extraction methodology by biomolecular experts to ensure quality and molecular integrity. These bio-tech capsules are fully researched, developed, and manufactured in Switzerland and the exclusive marine complex is contained in a fish gelatine capsule, which allows the capsule to bypass the stomach and dissolve in the small intestine where the active ingredients are fully absorbed by the body. This prevents the destruction of active ingredients. This enables maximum absorption of the micronutrients for optimal health results.
